

Position: LAB TECHNICIAN

Key responsibilities

- Provide Counselling that is effective, contextually and ethically appropriate, in-line with HIV confidentiality principles and with respect for human rights and values of PLHIV. Counselling may cover the aspects of HIV prevention/transmission risk reduction, pre-& post-test Counselling, Treatment adherence, Couple counselling/ Family planning/Reproductive Health, Nutritional counselling and Psychological Support.
- Ensure timely completion, accuracy and documentation of Registers/tools in the required formats.
- Overall physical assessment of PLHIV, taking and recording vitals (temperature, BP, weight, height). In case of any change in patient condition/complaints inform counselor or supervisor for follow-up with ART/Treating Physician or medical referral.
- Ensure proper storage and report on the status testing kits and other consumables
- Practice Universal precaution principles and infection control practices while performing community-based testing, basic palliative and nursing care where required.
- To provide on-site clinical assessment of the clients, HIV testing, symptomatic management of STIs and basic nursing care.
- Provide appropriate information and advice to the patients according the Doctor's prescription.
- Submit monthly report about the clinical clients to the supervisor.
- Maintain confidentiality and security of client information at all times.
